

Business Partnering for Business Performance

Course Overview

Enhance business partnering skills and reinforce the role of the people function in driving maximum business impact.

The learning content is relevant for people professionals who are currently working in the role of business partner, whether they are new to the role or more experienced. The programme will expand on their skills and maximize the influence and effectiveness of their role.

Learners will deepen their understanding of delivering effective HR capability within their organisation's context, recognizing how their role can support strategic objectives and business goals.

By the end of this course you will be able to:

- Explain current practice as a business partner in the wider context of the people profession, and how the role has evolved.
- Use insight on the context of the organisation to inform practice that gives greatest effect and value.
- Discover a closer link between strategic context and operational context in work.
- Use analytics to inform decisions and demonstrate the value business partnering brings to the organisation.
- Increase influence of business partnering within the organisation

Delivery Method

Digital

Course Duration

50-70 hours

Max Numbers (Cohort)

NA

AUDIENCE

Designed for people professionals who are experienced or new Business Partners.

On completion, you will have the practical knowledge and capability to deliver and perform at an industry-recognised standard.

You will have the opportunity to be part of a community of like-minded people professionals to continue your professional development by learning and sharing with others

Business Partnering for Business Performance Course Overview